Staff Transitioning

1. Chelsea has to list out separately all she does - because she does the job of 10 people - a very capable person can handle anything - and all tasks - but very capable people are expensive

2. Standard Operating Procedure Manual

Then Chelsea has to document EVERYTHING she does - task by task - so someone else can do it

IF you are going low cost VA, student, intern - they need to be taught EVERYTHING - they are low cost for a reason

3. Prioritize what you need because Chelsea is 10 people in one - and that is rare

Virtual Assistants - can't call out for you - they can do research and setup the call sheets - but this is rarely successful unless they are in the USA

Executive Assistant -

4. Set measurements so you know if someone is doing their job

ie. Social media - # of posts per platform

Google Doc

Date Staff # Calls made #churches #Colleges #speaking #TV
#emailsout #booked

Daily -

#calls made per week
#speaking gigs booked
#telesummit/podcasts booked

(Q) Also wondering what you think right now about having someone or agency specifically for booking as that is what is lacking right now.

There are very few agencies that find you gigs - I am listed with 2 - they have never gotten me one yet. I get my own gigs. They say they do, but I've not seen anything but hard work and perseverance book speaking gigs until you get known, then get referred.

Would like my sister to go over with you what she is doing in terms of e-mails, phone calls and follow up to pin point the gaps for her and transferring some of it to a new person.

- YOU MUST DOCUMENT _ in order to transfer a job successfully there must be a manual - I will show you an example from mine - I created the steps on how to do my social media - and then handed it to another person so it was done properly

Want to get clarity on this as what parts I could be helping with as well.
